Sky Miss Lorna Purser

Sky. A young girl at high school. What is so strange about that? I mean, its not like its the SECOND time she's been to high school is it? Well, actually, at the age of 14 Sky HAS been to high school twice! There's only one reason for that. Sky has AMAZING powers. She has lived alone with these powers since the age of 2. She witnessed her parent's deaths, as have other people like her. These are people who can travel in time and space. Sky is a rare person, and on top of those abilities she has many more. She has spent time perfecting them, all the while hiding her secret. Now, she needs to help some others with those abilities. Two children disappeared from Sky's time zone which doesn't seem to unusual. What IS unusual is the time traces left behind which Sky can follow. Using her superior perfected skill of mind reading and messaging, and of course her advanced technology which she uses to save the children from the past. Her iPhone in her belt is always there to help her, also her hover board is another useful thing to have. Whilst these things won't fit into the Victorian era, they can still be used in private. Right? Sky needs to follow the time traces back to the victorian era and find whoever took them back there, though they could be from even further into the future. And that would be bad news. Especially if they found out about Sky. Sky needs to avoid being found out or she could be in major trouble. I mean how hard can it be? Even if your friend is trying to kill you?.....
